

Structured liquids made easier, Innospec

This presentation will give background into the science behind structured surfactant systems and their utility for personal cleansing formulations containing suspended functional materials which can be delivered to skin and hair.